About us

The Hubwise Hartley SIPP is a self-invested personal pension scheme established under one master trust deed and set of rules (copies of which are available on request) and registered in accordance with the Finance Act 2004. The Hubwise Hartley SIPP is provided and operated by Hartley Pensions Limited, a UK registered company under number 09469576 which is authorised by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) to provide regulated products and services. The trustee of the SIPP is Hartley Pensions Trustees Limited, a UK registered company under number 09962237. Hartley Pensions Limited and Hartley Pensions Trustees Limited have entered into a service agreement with Hartley-SAS Limited ("Hartley") for the provision of day to day administration services relating to your Hubwise Hartley SIPP ("your SIPP"). Hartley-SAS Limited, a UK-registered company under number 06037774 will be your first point of contact in relation to your SIPP – contact details are below.

Risk

Investments can fall as well as rise and you may find that the value of your SIPP does not meet your investment expectations. Past performance of investments is not necessarily an indication of future performance. You should also consider how long you are required to hold a particular investment and if this is suitable for your lifestyle and investment aims. If investing outside of the UK for example, you may experience higher dealing costs and may be subject to varying exchange rates. You should also be aware that the investment/s you choose may pose a liquidity risk and you should consider the timespan of your investment/s and how easily you can disinvest should you wish to do so. We do not give financial or tax advice under any circumstances.

With the freedom to choose your own investments comes responsibility; you should make sure that you are comfortable making investment decisions. Please note that the Hubwise Hartley SIPP is denominated in British Pounds therefore you may experience bank charges when investing in products with a different currency. Our charging schedule is described below and also on our website, www.hubwise.co.uk.

What is a SIPP?

A Self-Invested Personal Pension or SIPP is a tax-efficient investment vehicle through which you can invest in a wide range of UK and international investment products. A SIPP offers up to 45% tax relief on contributions. Any investment gains that arise from your SIPP are free from income, dividend and capital gains tax.

Who can open a Hubwise Hartley SIPP?

Any UK-resident person can open a Hubwise Hartley SIPP.

How do I open a Hubwise Hartley SIPP?

To open a Hubwise Hartley SIPP you need to:

- read the Hartley Pensions Limited Terms and Conditions, the Hubwise Securities Limited Terms and Conditions, this Key Features Document and any other documentation which we provide you with, very carefully;
- be aware of the risks attached to a Hubwise Hartley SIPP and be comfortable with the fact that the value of your investments could fall as well as rise;
- complete and send to us the relevant application form;
- either transfer an eligible existing pension (see details below) or make a first contribution to your SIPP.

By choosing to open a Hubwise Hartley SIPP, you are agreeing to be bound by the Terms and Conditions of Hartley Pensions Limited and Hubwise Securities Limited and the rules of the Hartley Pension SIPP Scheme and to make payments as and when requested.

Can I change my mind?

Yes, you have a legal right to cancel the establishment of your SIPP, within 30 days of when you receive our welcome pack which contains a cancellation notice. Please note that any fees incurred during the time between the establishment of the SIPP and the cancellation will be borne by you. Similarly, any losses on investments are borne by you.

Can I transfer my existing pension to a Hubwise Hartley SIPP?

In most cases, yes. We accept transfers in from HMRC-recognised schemes. However, defined benefit schemes (e.g. final salary schemes) generally prevent transfers to a SIPP unless you have received personal advice from an FCA-regulated financial adviser who holds the appropriate pension transfer qualifications. If the value of your transfer is £30,000 or above, the transfer must be on a fully-advised basis by a suitably-qualified pensions specialist. Please contact us if you wish to transfer your existing pension to a Hubwise Hartley SIPP.

Please note that, although we do not charge a fee to transfer your pension into a Hubwise Hartley SIPP, your pension provider may charge you to transfer out of their scheme.

How much money can I contribute in a year and what tax relief will I receive on contributions?

There is no limit on the amount of money you can contribute to your SIPP each year but the amount you contribute may have tax implications. The contribution amounts are based on your UK relevant earnings. If you have no relevant UK earnings then you are still able to make contributions up to £3,600 each year. If you do have relevant UK earnings then you can receive tax relief on contributions up to the amount you earn, to a maximum of £40,000. We will claim tax relief at the basic rate (currently 20%) from HMRC on a monthly basis.

However, if you make contributions above the current limit of £40,000, you may incur a tax charge via HMRC's 'annual allowance tax charge'. The annual allowance is set each year by the UK Government and therefore may change in the future. Further information on the annual allowance tax charge and on contributions in general is available on the technical pages of our website, www.hartleypensions.com. Please seek specialist tax advice if you have specific tax concerns. All contributions made into your SIPP are subject to a correctly completed contributions form which can be found on our website, www.hartleypensions.com.

Is there a minimum contribution level?

If you transfer your existing pension to a Hubwise Hartley SIPP there is no requirement to make any contribution. There is no minimum level for one off or regular monthly contributions.

Who can contribute to my SIPP?

You can make personal contributions, other people can make contributions e.g. your spouse or parents, and your employer can make contributions.

Can I have more than one SIPP?

We would not open two Hubwise Hartley SIPPs for you but it is possible to have another SIPP with a different provider. If you run two SIPPs concurrently you may have to pay a tax relief charge to HMRC if you have received more than the allocated tax relief in any one year.

Who manages the investment portfolio held in my Hubwise Hartley SIPP?

All investment decisions in relation to your Hubwise Hartley SIPP are taken by you personally and your financial adviser. We are neither managers nor advisers; it is imperative that you consider if a Hubwise Hartley SIPP is an appropriate investment product for you based on your investment experience and personal circumstances.

Can I hold property in a Hubwise Hartley SIPP?

Yes. Please contact Hartley in the first instance for more details.

How can I check the value of my pension?

You can phone Hartley during office hours (9am to 5pm) and they will be able to tell you the current value of your fund. We will send you a yearly statement for your records. It is also prudent to review your SIPP on a regular basis to ensure that it is the correct product for your investment needs.

What is the lifetime allowance?

This is the amount that you can receive over your lifetime before being liable for a tax charge. The limit is currently £1 million pounds but this is subject to change. Your SIPP may be subject to additional tax charges at the point you withdraw funds if your pension is valued at more than the lifetime allowance.

When can I access my SIPP?

The earliest age you can start taking money from your SIPP is 55 years (due to rise to 57 in 2028) unless you are in serious ill health, as defined by the Finance Act 2004.

How can I take my benefits?

You can drawdown up to 25% of your SIPP tax free from the age of 55 as a Pension Commencement Lump Sum (PCLS), but the remaining pot must form a 'drawdown plan'. From 2028 the age you can withdraw a PCLS will rise to 57 years.

After taking a PCLS, you can opt to have complete flexibility (known as 'flexi-access') as to how you drawdown from your drawdown plan (i.e. any combination of lump sums or monthly payment), but each drawdown will be taxed at your normal income tax rate, whether you take further lump sums or a monthly income. As soon as you take any money from your SIPP a restriction on any future tax relievable money purchase contributions to your pot applies of £4,000 a year.

Alternatively, you can take money direct from your pot without having to put the money into a drawdown plan and 25% of this sum will be tax free. This is called an 'uncrystallised funds pension lump sum' (UFPLS). You can take one or more UFPLS payments and these can be regular or irregular payments. Payment of a UFPLS will trigger a restriction on any future tax relievable money purchase contributions to your pot to £4,000 a year.

You can also take up to three small pots of up to £10,000. 25% will be tax free and 75% will be subject to marginal rate income tax in the same way as UFPLS. Taking small pot payments does not trigger a restriction on future tax relievable money contributions to your pot.

Taking money from your pot may erode the capital value of your SIPP and could result in a lower income than anticipated in the future. You should take advice from an FCA-authorized financial adviser or suitably qualified tax adviser as to the best method to take your SIPP benefit in your particular circumstances, before making any such decisions.

After I have taken a PCLS, does my SIPP still benefit from tax relief?

Yes. If you are in flexi-access drawdown, until you drawdown from your drawdown plan, you receive tax relief on contributions up to your UK relevant earnings.

What happens if I am in capped drawdown?

If you had started to take payments from your pension prior to the April 2015 pension freedoms, your pension is designated as capped drawdown. This will mean that you are allowed to take income from your pension up to a certain limit each year. You are entitled to keep your pension as capped drawdown or if you wish to have more freedom, you can convert to a flexi-access drawdown arrangement meaning that there would be no capped income limit. You will need to consider implications such as the Money Purchase Annual Allowance.

Do you offer annuities?

No. If you are looking to purchase an annuity, you must transfer all or part of your pension to an annuity provider.

Is SIPP income subject to National Insurance?

No.

What happens to my SIPP if I die?

When we are notified of your death by your personal representative, we will ask for a copy of your death certificate. We will carry out due diligence on the beneficiary and then discuss options with him or her. Please note that the trustee retains ultimate discretion over the distribution of your pension, despite a beneficiary being named.

If you die before you reach the age of 75, your beneficiary can choose:

1. to take a tax-free lump sum or transfer the SIPP into their own name or an external pension scheme. If you die after the age of 75, your beneficiary can choose to take the whole pot as a lump sum but this will be subject to a tax charge at the marginal rate of the beneficiary; or
2. to transfer the SIPP into a SIPP of their own or take a regular income from the deceased's pension through what is called pension drawdown, which will be taxed at the beneficiary's normal rate of income tax; or
3. to elect to take periodical lump sums. These payments will be treated as income, therefore would be taxable at the beneficiary's normal rate of income tax. The SIPP must be kept open but transferred to the name of the beneficiary and all normal charges e.g. administration fees will apply.

Do I have to choose a beneficiary to receive my SIPP if I die?

No. Clients normally choose a beneficiary e.g. a spouse or a child. This is not legally required but we strongly recommend that you do tell us of your wishes to help ensure we consider paying the correct beneficiaries.

How much does a Hubwise Hartley SIPP cost?

There is no initial fee. The ongoing fee is 0.1% + VAT payable in monthly instalments subject to a minimum annual charge of £15 + VAT and a maximum annual charge of £50 + VAT. Ongoing fees are calculated using basis points (BPs) where 100 BPs is the equivalent to 1%

There are no additional charges for transfers in and the fee for transfers out will not exceed the previous year's fee. An additional fee of £125 + VAT applies to any SIPP that is in drawdown. Other fees for work in relation to commercial property, divorce and death for example are available on request and will be quoted to you before any work is carried out. Please note that there will be additional fees charged by Hubwise. Please contact them in this regard or go to www.hubwise.co.uk

When do I pay the administration fee?

We will withdraw the annual fee from your account on a monthly, pro-rata basis.

Do you set up a bank account for me?

Yes, a bank account will be set up in the name of your SIPP, currently at RBS. If interest is payable, it may be variable and the current rate of interest paid will be confirmed in the FAQ section of www.hartleypensions.com.

Ability to disinvest

If you owe us any outstanding fees, we reserve the right to disinvest from your most liquid investment, including cash.

If I am not satisfied, can I transfer out to another provider?

Yes, you can transfer out to another provider as long as the provider is HMRC-approved. Subject to the entire portfolio moving, a fee not exceeding the previous year's management charge would be levied.

If I have any queries, who can I speak to?

Hartley provides scheme administration services to Hartley Pensions Limited. Upon opening a Hubwise Hartley SIPP you will be assigned a dedicated SIPP administrator at Hartley who will answer any of your queries by telephone or email. Hartley is not a call centre; all of the SIPP team are pension professionals who have gained or are currently studying towards industry-recognised pension qualifications.

Is my money protected in any way?

Whilst your money is being held in your SIPP bank account which we set up for you, it is covered by the FSCS's UK deposit recovery scheme, up to the maximum (£85,000 at the time of writing). When your money is invested on a particular platform/s it may not be covered by the FSCS. For more information, please visit: www.fscs.org.uk
